Shani Geva

Frontend Software Engineer

Tel Aviv-Yafo, Tel Aviv District, Israel

Summary

Got my computer science B.s.c in HIT and dived right into the deep water of the coding industry.

I am a very passionate developer from the young age of middle school, all through high school , to my service at the IAF, then to the academy and up 'till today.

I like reading about new technologies and participate in various technological meetups.
I like volunteering to help other women ease their way into coding as well.

I consider myself a very motivated, eager to learn while working person.

I served in the Israeli Air Force (IAF) for 2 great years of learning new skills, developing web programs and maintaining old ones as well. When my commander learned about my graphic skills, she offered me to be the official unit designer as well – a job I enjoyed taking on.
